

About
the Artist

Combining her passion for jewelry design and love of animals, Suzanne found a unique way to do her part in helping the millions of animals that are surrendered each year. Her original design is called, For Those Who Have No Voice.

“We have to represent the animals, those in our own homes and those left behind. To give those animals a “voice”, to let them know that they are forever in our hearts and that YOU and I will stand up for them, their safety, their well-being, their needs and their LIVES; I created this bracelet for YOU and I to wear...in honor of those who cannot speak for themselves.”

GDRJ went a step further and chose two additional sayings for the bracelet and keychain. You don't have to be a rescue person to enjoy the items or their meaning. You can choose one design or stack all three. Either way, Suzanne donates the profits from each sale to GDRJ.

Will you help support us too?

Please meet Cassidy, her story will leave footprints on your heart, as it did ours.

Cassidy came into rescue at 8 weeks old. She was shot with BBs, and her left rear leg was broken in three places from blunt force trauma. The injury was so severe it caused nerve damage in her good leg. The breaks could not be repaired, and her leg had to be amputated.

Thankfully, Cassidy recuperated and was adopted. She has thrived in her forever home despite her tragic beginnings. This happy girl is a success story that we love to share and hope that you will one day be part of.
